LARRY MORGAN

OBJECTIVE

I am seeking employment up to 24 hours per week with mutually agreeable compensation. Preferably working remotely as much as possible.

SKILLS AND STRENGTHS

I believe in giving full value for money paid. I am a reliable, Conscientious, Honest, Non-Smoker.

I am a computer expert who has taught computer classes at the post-secondary level. I am an excellent problem solver who is good with customers. I am skilled at presentations. I am skilled with HTML and learn needed computer languages quickly. I have worked some with various Linux distributions and all currently supported versions of Windows. I have done a large amount of programming in Cobol and PLI on IBM Mainframes and VAX minicomputers. I have written and maintained JCL. I have used some other languages and programmed on some other computers

Example: I had to make reporting programs on an IBM mainframe in one city work cooperatively with data acquisition programs on a VAX in our city. I did this in such a way that highly educated users thought the reporting programs were running locally. I hid the complexities and made it all work in a simple manner.

I was known for outside-the-box solutions. Example, while serving as the lead technical for desktop computers on the year 2000 project, I learned of an issue with Excel. The problem could be detected as a "signature" in an Excel file, much like a virus signature. When our antivirus company could not be persuaded to add this signature to the virus signature database, I had a scanning program written to look at all Excel datasets on our network and on the computers of clients using critical Excel spreadsheets. The number was thus reduced from millions to less than 100 requiring examination by hand.

At one time I had to write an antivirus program to cover an issue ignored by antivirus companies. This was Word "macro" viruses. Once the program went production, we never had another infected Word system. Since I was the Microsoft Office Coordinator, I fed information to Microsoft on how to eliminate macro viruses. I am certain others like myself were turning in similar recommendations. About two years later, Microsoft implemented the change. The world no longer has significant Word macro viruses.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

I retired early as a result of an automobile accident that occurred in 2002. When I was unable to recover fully while commuting in a heavy traffic situation, my wife Phyllis suggested I retire at the end of 2004 and that we become full time RVers. During this time I developed travelingmorgans.com. While I do not have the remarkable stamina I had before the accident, I am now in very good physical shape. Now I need to be the caretaker for Phyllis.

We have two grown children, one grandchild, and worked our way around the USA for over 12 years with two small dogs. Since Phyllis' health is not likely to improve, our traveling days are now a delightful memory.

OTHER COMPUTER RELATED EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

I worked for 4 years in computer programming before I went to work at Eli Lilly and Company. One was an insurance company and the other a contract programming firm. The companies no longer exist, but I am happy to provide details if desired. I also held a factory job. I was never unemployed. These jobs probably are not relevant but information can be provided if desired. Employment history before and during college is not listed here.

Part time jobs are not listed. These include but are not limited to College Adjunct Faculty (teaching evening classes for Indianapolis University and IVY Tech at Indianapolis), photo finishing, and wedding photography.

Since my retirement I have held various workamping jobs in widely divergent locations, many are not relevant to computer jobs. I have also taught some classes and consulted with individual computer owners.

A RECOMMENDATIONS FROM A PREVIOUS EMPLOYERS

Beaver Lake Campground

Greetings to whom it may concern,

In regards to the traveling Morgans, Larry & Phyllis. We were their welcome home for the April-Oct 2010 season. We recognize their wish to explore, widen experiences through out the nation. Their season here was pleasant, very helpful. Phyllis is a lady up to any task, within reason for any camp of our complexity. I thank her now again for her willingness to pitch in when we were in need. She did so in any capacity. Larry also was special in his way. Wherever a guest asked for attention, my pools, any operation capacity of the camp, Larry would be there. I most appreciate his help, sharing of his knowledge in starting our cable tv system, establishing our private info. channel. Wherever Larry & Phyllis travel, wherever they would like to spend time, if you have a project that works for you & them you should find a great couple willing to share of a world of experience, & willing to adapt to the unique niche your property is in.

From Cindy & Max Hammer, Beaver Lake Campground, Custer, SD
